Hi everyone,

Little about me, my name's Nicola, I'm owned by a 3ry old Yellow Lab called Kiera and a 1yr old African grey parrot called Bonnie, I am a dog walker/handler, I love my job, I get the oppurtunity and the pleasure of getting to know all sorts of dog and cat breeds, also other small furry animals that I visit.

This website is brilliant, it has loads of information, I love looking into everyones directory's and seeing all the great looking websites Great stuff!

Also looking forward to posting and reading all the posts!!

What's keeping you!

Best wishes

Hi Nicky - great to meet you, i'm Karen from Colchester. where do you do your pet walking? and how long have you been doing it for?

I've been looking through the websites too, you're right loads of excellent sites. i'm on the hunt for a large cat igloo, would you know where i can get one? (just thought u may have seen one on your search through the sites)
:woohoo:

Hi Karen,

I'm based in Glasgow and provide services in the Glasgow west end area, long way from you eh!!

we have a large pet store called pets @ home think they may be stores all over Britain, I've seen igloo's in there at somepoint around about Christmas time last year.

www.petsathome.co.uk also same as pete, pet planet is great you'll find loads of items online.

Hope your having a fab weekend:)

thanks for the help - i've been super busy last few weeks, but back on now. weekends are best for me, so hope to see you all back on.

what happened to pete? how did the walk around the cathedral go - did you and your dog have fun with the tourists? we have a few tourists in colchester - but mainly get a lot of students, they all came back from the summer holidays a few weeks ago. they do liven up the place.

anjyone ever been to colchester?

Hi Karen,

Glad you found one, I've been pretty busy with boardings and things so haven't manage to get online line for personal use these days.

Yes it's getting lively around here with the new students, and the Autumn is also in the atmosphere I love this time of year with all the smells and colours it always seems to cheer me up.

Give George and Mildred cuds from me!!:kiss:

Hi Nicky

great to see you back online ;) , and thanks for all your tips and advice - especially about the pet hairs. We don't have a dyson and dare not mention it or my husband will think that's what i want for xmas (that's men for you!). Its been really busy on here today but again people aren't chatting.

come on everyone, this is beginning to sound like the Karen & Nicky show! or should that be the other way around, i don't mind being the assistant; i guess it depends on who looks like debbie mcgee.

i better get back to work.

Hee hee Karen,

Well I have blonde hair just like debbie, but I'll pass as I don't want the responsibility!!!!...lol yeah don't mention the hover at this time of year my mother in law once got a microwave that she liked and got it for xmas, best wait til the sales...

How's George and Mildred?? My Kiera has a wee problem with her scent glands and vet put her on steroids which didn't work the first time round (did help her joints tho) so vet has administered antibiotics too so she's feeling a little bit better.

:cheer:

Hope your having a great week/end.

Take care

Nickyxx
